CORRECTION .- A citizen, who does not wish to be known, writes us that our paragraph about the stabbing affray in Duane-st. does injustice to one of the women, Mrs. Lalane, who the writer states is a virtuous and estimable lady, and not an abandoned woman, as stated; and that she has always maintained an unsullied character as a wife and mother of an interesting family. The writer knows the house where the difficulty occurred has formerly been of questionable character; but the former proprietor, now deceased, left her husband and his children heirs to the property, and they have been occupying the ce it came into their possession, at the requeet of the administration, and to save expense to themselves, until the house is sold. Toe history of the affray is this Mrs. L. had sent her domestic to the store, and recollecting she needed something else, went to the area gate to call her back, when an abandored woman, whom she had never seen, stabbed

The Thorn Case—An Important Decision.—The long contested suit against Col. Herman Thorn, of New-Yerk, was brought to a close in the Court of Errors and Appeals at Treaton, on Wednesday, by a final decision in his favor, the vote being nine to one. The writ was brought in the Court of Chancery to recover a very large sum of money, now amounting, it is said, to half a million of dollars. The allegation was that Mr. Herman Thorn had, some twenty years ago, obtained an assignment of Elizabeth Hait's interest in the Jaurcey estate in a fraudulent manuer, by threats and imposition, and for a wholly inadequate consideration. The present Chancellor, having been one of the counsel in the cause before he came into office, could not sit, and it was referred to Chief Justice Green, who, after a careful hearing of the matter in February of last year, decided in favor of the defendant, Thorn, on these grounds: last. That the assignment was not obtained by THE THORN CASE-AN IMPORTANT DECISION .- The vor of the defendant, Thorn, on these grounds:
1st. That the assignment was not obtained by fraud or imposition, and is a legal and binding transfer of the property to Mr. Thorn from Miss Hait, both in law and equity. 2d. That a former suit In New-York had once settled the matters embraced in this suit, so that the Courts of this State could not again take cognizance of the cass. And 3d. That the lapse of time was so long since the transactions took place, that the claim, if any, was barred by the statute of limitations. From this opinion, the complainant appealed to the Court of Errors and Appeals, and brought the cause to a hearing at the last Nevember term. It was elaborately argued, and the Court took till the succeeding term to prepare their minds for the decision, which was made on Wedoesday, afirming the decree of the Court of Chancery, as settled by Chief Justice Green, in favor of the defendant, Herman Thorn. In the Court of Appeals, the decision turned on the first ground, that there was no fraud or imposition on the part of Mr. Thorn in obtaining the release.

Archer Gifford, Erg., was procecuting party on the imposition on the part of Mr. Thorn in obtaining the release.

Archer Gifford, E.-q., was proceeding party on the record, being the representative of Miss Hait, but the real person in interest was Jonathan Edwards Hoyt, of Connecticut Farms, in this County, who recently died, and who proceeded the suit, he being the next of kin and residuary legatee of Miss Hait. This clores a long and very tedious controversy, which has been in our Courts since 1846. The counsel for the app ellant were Asa Whitehead, Wm L Dayton, of this State, and George Wood, of New York; for the defendant, Wm. Pennington, Abraham O Zabriskie, of this State, and Charles O'Conner, of New-York.

It has been frequently urged by these unfriendly to the Illinois Central Railroad Co. that that Company would find it impossible to sell their lands at the schedule rates, because the Government had millions of acres of alternate sections for sale at $2 50 P acre. The "Ingersoll" pamphlet put this argument for ward prominently, and even questioned the correst ness of the official report from the Land Commission er at Washington showing large sales of lands. In order to show the failacy of this statement, statistics have been obtained from the various Land-Offices on the line of the Road, which show that out of 510 townships, covering 11,500 000 acres, there remain musold of Government lands only 351,700 acresequal to about 15; townships out of over 500-and these lands barren and refuse—the residueur after millions of acres had been selected. The rapid increase of Chicago as a monetary center is shown in a very striking manner by the following facts from The Chicago Daily Press, in regard to the business of Mr. F. G. Adams, Exchange Broker, of that city, who commenced business there within three years. The Press says, speaking of the amount of funds sent by Express by that gentleman: The total amount was $3,496,162,37; on which the regular Express charges were $1,632. The amount received and sent by Express, we learn embraces only about and sent by Express, we learn, embraces only about a third of the business of the house, making the total amount of money handled the snug sum of

The produce markets are without much change or activity, but prices are generally well sustained. The supply of Breadstuffs is limited, and will continue so until the Wes'ern Lakes are open. Cotton is inactive, waiting for the letter mail of the Asia. Provisions are in fair demand, and steady. In Dry Goods, prices are firm for desirable styles, especially of dress goods, and in first hands the stocks are light. The goods, and in first hands the stocks are light. The jobbers are not busy, but a better trade is expected in April. In Wall-st, outside of the Stock circles, there is a general complaint of duliness. Some of the leading houses in Monetary and Exchange transactions express the opinion that there has not been less activity in many years. The general caution which prevails in regard to new enterprises prevents important negotiations, and the g business of the country is so much contracts it is difficult to employ capital profitably. In the Money market we have no change to note.— Some of the Banks are exhibiting more prudence in loans, but the offerings of first class paper are still below the ability of most of these institu and there is no difficulty in passing desirable signa-tures at 6.27 F cent. The Legislature of New Jerrey has passed the bill to charter the Newark City Bank, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor. that the trains now run into the city as far as Wood-et.

In regard to Western Banking, Thompson's Bank

In regard to Western Banking, Thompson's Bank Note Reporter says:

"We have repeatedly spoken in high terms of the Banks and Banking laws of Illicois and Wisconsin. The Indiana law, which was the cause of all the embarrassments and discressit at the West, was, as we have ever said, too inducing to mere circulating Banks. This law has been amended, and is now a safe and available law.

"In Wisconsin two Banks have been wound up, and the Bank Controller pays par for their notes. In Illinois tive are in process of winding up, and the Auditor will redeem their issues at par.
